

THOUSAND OR MORE DIED IN CUBAN STORM

Extent Of Hurricane's Toll On Island Is Undetermined

BULLETIN
Key West, Fla., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Naval tug, Scota, which last night sent out an S. O. S. call, today reported to the Charleston, S. C., Naval base that she is no longer in need of assistance, according to a radio message intercepted at the Naval radio station here.

Several destroyers are in the immediate vicinity of the Scota and are in constant radio contact with the tug. Naval base officials said. The message did not give additional information, but radio station officials believed the tug, which carried a crew of 30, was caught last night in the hurricane about 350 miles east of Port Pierce, Florida.

BULLETIN
Camaguey, Cuba, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Secretary of Public Works Onetti, returned today from Santa Cruz Del Sur, Camaguey province, and said there were more than 1,000 dead and more than 700 injured in that place alone as a result of the hurricane. He said not a single house was standing at Santa Cruz.

"I have never seen such a tragedy in all my life," said Secretary Onetti. "Damages are incalculable since the entire city, which had 3,500 inhabitants—was wiped out. I lifted boards and planks and found corpses of children underneath. It was horrible." "Most of the victims were women and children."

Asked if the city would be rebuilt, he said "I wouldn't recommend it."

(By The Associated Press)
The ten days-old Caribbean hurricane headed over the Atlantic today, leaving in its wake an estimated 1,000 or more dead in central Cuba and a trail of wreckage and destruction on land and sea.

First reports from Cuba said most of the province of Camaguey was devastated and parts of Santa Clara and Oriente provinces were damaged by the disturbance which cut a wide swath through the island Wednesday.

Nearly all the dead were reported from the Caribbean coast village of Santa Cruz Del Sur, in Camaguey province. The hurricane blew up a tidal wave that destroyed the town completely, trapping its residents in the night.

Other Places Damaged
Camaguey, Manzanillo, Redencion Nuevas and other nearby cities and towns were badly damaged, but of these only Camaguey thus far has reported a death list.

The storm thus far has wrecked only one vessel, the American schooner Abundance, off Jamaica. Its crew was rescued. Several vessels were damaged, later proceeding on their way or awaiting assistance. These included the British Blue Funnel Line freighter Phemius, the American Quaker Line vessel San Simeon, the British steamer Ingola, the steamer Velma Lykes out of Houston, Tex., and the tanker Sun-Oil.

The storm first appeared on November 2, off the Virgin Islands. By J. P. McNight Associated Press Staff Writer (Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

Camaguey, Cuba, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A wide strip of central Cuba lay prostrate amid the devastation of a tropical hurricane that left an estimated 1,000 or more dead in its path.

Camaguey province, the richest sugar growing province of the nation, bore the brunt of the storm. Milling men said they believed the cane crop had been virtually destroyed.

Most of the dead were drowned in a tidal wave that swept the Caribbean port of Santa Cruz Del Sur. The hurricane whipped a wall of water 20-feet high through the town and hundreds of the 4,000 villagers were trapped in their homes.

Elsewhere through Camaguey and adjoining parts of Santa Clara and Oriente provinces, the destructive winds damaged dozens of cities and towns and leveled vast areas of cultivated lands.

FIVE, AIR-BOUND TO WINTER HOME, KILLED IN CRASH

Three Adults, Two Little Children Became Victims Tragedy

Kempville, Tenn., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Flying far off its course and apparently lost a plane crashed in a woods on a steep hillside near here last night, carrying its five occupants to their deaths.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Hirt, Chicago, and her two children, a boy and girl, about five and four years old, respectively, were the other victims. All were killed instantly except the girl who died of a brain concussion this morning.

Dr. C. W. Robinson, who was with the searching party that found the demolished plane, said it crashed during a high wind that was accompanied by a slight drizzle. The plane had left Sky Harbor near Nashville at 5:15 P. M., yesterday, enroute to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., via Chattanooga. Favorable weather conditions prevailed all the way, but instead of flying southeast, the plane went northeast, and was about 300 miles off its course.

Crash Terrible
The accident occurred about four hours after the plane left the flying field, and the crash was so terrific that it aroused residents of the little village of Kempville, located in Smith county near Carthage. A searching party was organized immediately, but it was almost midnight before the wreckage was found in the woods.

"The plane had been sailing around for a good while and appeared to be lost," Dr. Robinson said. "It would make a terrific racket for a while and then be silent, as if coasting. All of a sudden we heard a crash and started out to look for it. About 25 or 30 joined in the search."

They found it, he continued, "crashed all to pieces," and the bodies badly crushed.

FLYING HIS HOBBY
Chicago, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A two-year hobby for flying cost the lives of five persons when Joseph F. Hirt's plane crashed enroute to Florida.

Accompanying Hirt, 40, and his wife Inez, 38, were Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, 38, a widow, and her two children, Robert 4 and Inez, 2, of Henry, Marshall county, Ill. Business associates of Hirt said the Hunters had come to Chicago on Wednesday night to make the trip.

Hirt as president of the Forest Products Engineering Co., here and had been a follower of aviation for years, although he did not take up actual flying until two years ago, officials at his office said today. He held a private pilot's license, they said.

Made Trip Alone
Two weeks ago, they said, he had made the round trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., alone and had made it before accompanied by experienced pilots. The present trip was being made to take Mrs. Hirt and the Hunters to Fort Lauderdale to spend the winter on the Hirt farm near there.

Hirt and his four passengers took off from here at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and nothing more was heard from them until word of the fatal crash was received early today. Employees in Hirt's office said he was constantly flying, both for business and pleasure. His plane was a single motored cabin model, a year old.

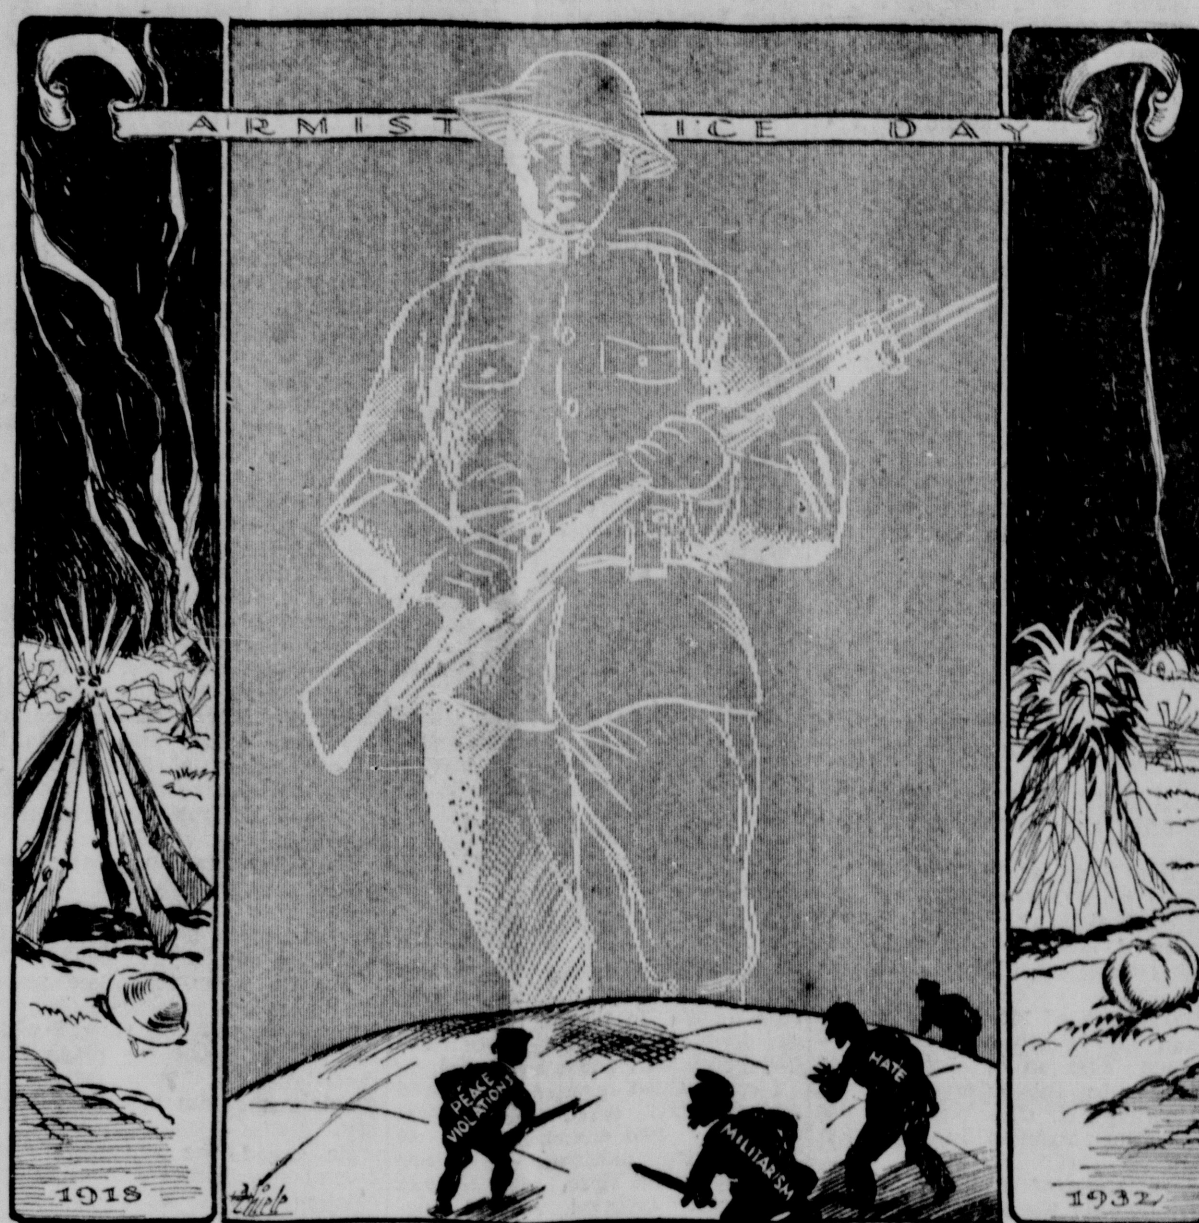

As the Hirts are not known to have had any local relatives, several members of the firm said they would leave for the scene of the crash today to arrange for removal of all the bodies to Chicago.

INTERESTS IN FLORIDA
Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Joseph F. Hirt, killed at Kempville, Tenn., with his wife and three others in an airplane crash last night, was a Chicagoan who had considerable financial interest in the Fort Lauderdale area.

He spent only a short time each year in Florida, but maintained constant contact with a large farm he was developing near Pompano. Hirt also operated a wood-working plant in Fort Lauderdale.

He was a wood working engineer and associated with a Chicago concern. During the World War he held a government contract for manufacture of airplane propellers and this work caused him to become greatly interested in aviation. He held a private pilot's license.

CARRY ON!

NEXT MICHIGAN GOVERNOR WILL FREE PRISONERS

Will Seek Means To Liberate Dry Law Violators

Detroit, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Freedom was in prospect today for imprisoned violators of Michigan's prohibition law, if Governor-elect William A. Comstock finds it "legally possible" to release them when he assumes office in January.

From other leaders among the Democrats, who will be in control when the state legislature convenes two months hence, came statements that repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act would be attempted, should it be found that the voters, by repealing constitutional prohibition Tuesday, did not repeat statutory prohibition.

But while debate raged on the full effect of the overwhelming vote to erase the "bone dry" clause from the constitution, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, whom Comstock defeated, announced he would "enforce the law" as long as he remains in office.

In an informal opinion, Emerson E. Boyles, associate Attorney General, said the repeal does not extend to the enforcement act. Meanwhile, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy's avowed intention to issue no further warrants charging prohibition violations pending an official ruling on the status of the law left effective enforcement in Wayne county to federal officers. They said they were interested primarily in manufacturers and wholesale transporters.

Board Of Trade's Plea Is Considered

Chicago, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today had under advisement the appeal of the Chicago Board of Trade from an order of a federal commission suspending its activity for 60 days for refusal to admit the Farmers' National Grain Corporation to membership in its clearing corporation.

The case was argued before the three judges of the court yesterday. The suspension order had been made by three Cabinet members. The government yesterday argued the Farmers' National was qualified for membership under the provision of the Grain Futures Act and contended the board's rules for membership of corporations were not applicable in cases involving cooperatives.

Attorneys representing the Board of Trade said the Farmers' National had not complied with requests for information regarding its financial structure and operations.

Norman Burke of St. Luke's Episcopal church will officiate and the body will be taken overland to the Afton cemetery, eight miles south of DeKalb, where interment will be made.

LEFT HANDER IS WINNER IN CORN PICKING CONTEST

Illinois' Champion Set A New National Record In Annual Meet

Galva, Ill., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Out of the mud of an Illinois corn field has emerged a new American corn husking champion.

He is Carl Seiler, 29-year-old left-hander who boasts no mechanical corn pickers have been used on his father's farm near Oneida, Ill.

Forty thousand persons watched Seiler win from 17 other contestants by husking 36,914 bushels in 80 minutes—a new national record. The previous high of 35,875 was held by Elmer Williams of Henry county, Illinois.

Walter Johansen, of Audobon county, Iowa, with 35,2 was the runner-up, while Clarence Maley of Minnesota, with 35,142 was third. Excitement was so high that two women fainted.

Pickers Exhausted
Walking in ankle deep mud on the Robert Peterson farm beside 18 red tractor-pulled wagons into which they tossed the corn, the contestants worked at a frenzied pitch, and some of them were so exhausted at the end that they threw themselves down in the mud to rest, like football players after a hard-fought contest.

It was the one big sporting event of the farmers of the midwest and they made the most of it. Bands played to enliven the contest. One of them from Indiana whopped it up for the Hoosier state champion Lawrence E. Pitzer of Newton, Ind., but the best he could do was to land in seventh place, just behind Orville Welch of Platt county, Ill., who had been favored by many to repeat his victory of a year ago.

Encountered Bad Luck
Welch, however, appeared to be followed by bad luck all the way. Twice the tractor pulling his wagon developed engine trouble, and once a spectator got in the way. All three incidents caused him some delay.

Ted Balko, the Minnesota state champion, was fourth with 35,014 bushels, the others with their figures finished in the following order: Kenneth House, Nebraska runner-up, 33,37; Orville Welch, Illinois 1932 runner-up, 33,32; Lawrence Pitzer, Indiana titleholder, 33,087; Albert Hensler, Indiana runner-up, 32,844.

Harry E. Sorensen, Nebraska champion, 32,55; Frank Bohr, South Dakota runner-up, 32,487; Orville Wicks, Iowa champion, 32,122; Joe Holthaus, Kansas runner-up, 31,979; Richard Anderson, South Dakota champion, 31,960; Omer Little, Missouri champion, 31,18; Orville Peterson, Kansas champion, 30,245; Ralph McLaughlin, Missouri runner-up, 30,204; Everett Ford, Ohio runner-up, 29,736; Lester Anthony, Ohio champion, 29,7.

It was a great day for the corn huskers but the 29 women's organizations that set up tents to sell some 200,000 cups of coffee, 14,000 pounds of meat and other food, (Continued on Page 2)

SCORE ITALIAN PLANES TO MAKE CHICAGO FLIGHT

Young Air Minister To Lead Flight Of 20 Military Ships

Rome, Nov. 11.—(AP)—General Italo Balbo's long-planned mass flight of 20 military airplanes from Rome to Chicago and return for the 1933 Chicago Exposition, was officially announced today by the Italian government.

The flight will start in June and will take probably two months by easy stages.

General Balbo, Italy's young Air Minister, will lead the flight as he did one to South America more than a year ago. Second in command probably will be General Aldo Pellegrini, commander of the High Seas Navigation School at Orbetello, where 100 picked aviators have been training for the flight for four years.

Italian air scouts for months have been surveying the route of the flight, which probably will be from Rome via Ireland, Iceland, Greenland, Newfoundland, Washington or New York and other undecided American cities. The return possibly will be by the same route with delay for overhauling motors at New York.

Says Beer And Wine Are Not "Liquors"

Havre De Grace, Md., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Contending the "eighteenth amendment" as written is not broad enough to cover beer," United States Senator Millard E. Tydings (D., Md.) today devoted his attention to a new study for legalization of the beverage.

Resting at his home here following his re-election last Tuesday, Senator Tydings said the amendment specifies "liquors" and before the advent of prohibition there was a distinction between liquor, beer and wine.

The Democratic senator said he had enlisted the assistance of "eminent constitutional authorities" in Washington and was preparing the study of the definition of the word "liquors" in the law.

Boy Kills Himself To Be With Brother

Raymondville, Tex., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The football season in Raymondville ended on the eve of an Armistice Day game because the Lawrence brothers died.

Glenn, the younger, was found dead yesterday in his room at home after members of the family heard a pistol shot. The coroner said it was suicide. Glenn left a note saying he wanted to "be with Blondie." Blondie was Clifton, who died Monday.

LEWIS SCHOLL'S FARM IS SCENE OF BAD BLAZE

Fine Barn Destroyed Last Night: Stock Was All Saved

The large barn on the Lewis Scholl farm, about two miles west of Woosung, was totally destroyed by fire last night.

All of the stock, including four horses and one of the finest herds of Holstein cattle in this vicinity, was led to safety. Elton Scholl, son of the owner of the place, was injured when one of the panic-stricken horses crushed him against the side of the barn, causing painful bruises.

The barn was one of the largest and best equipped in this part of the state. It was electrically lighted and equipped with milking machine, individual drinking fountains for the cattle, etc.

The fire started about 8:30 and is believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a stack of soy bean hay. A slight explosion was heard after which the flames spread so rapidly that it was only by fast work that the stock and machinery were saved. There was about 45 tons of hay and 2,000 bushels of oats in the barn. Part of the oats was being salvaged today. An automobile and truck were removed from the barn in time to save them.

The Community fire trucks from Dixon and Polo responded to the alarm and were successful in saving the surrounding buildings. The fire was visible from Dixon and many local people visited the scene.

Two Congressional Contests Probable

Chicago, Nov. 11.—(AP)—James Simpson, Jr., reported defeated by his Democratic opponent for Congress in the Tenth Illinois district, has put forth a claim of victory.

Related returns have enabled Simpson to whittle down the margin with which Charles Weber, the Democratic nominee, was credited. As tabulated by Simpson last night the figures, with three precincts unreported, stood: Simpson, 100,338; Weber, 68,680.

The Tenth district includes the north side of Chicago and Cook county and all of Lake county. Among the precincts reporting late were several in Evanston where Simpson was favored 4 to 1 by the voters.

A contested finish loomed also in the Eleventh district where the incumbent, Frank R. Reid, Aurora, Republican, and James A. Howell, Elgin Democrat, were engaged in a close battle. With four precincts unreported the count stood: Reid, 76,014; Howell, 75,496. Managers for Howell refused to concede his defeat, declaring they expected the official count would show him as the victor.

Daniels Launches Campaign Of Own

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A Democratic campaign of his own has been launched by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson cabinet and publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer.

He would change the emblem of the party from the donkey to a rooster. Printing a crowing rooster on his paper's front page, Daniels said it was hoped "this will result in the re-adoption of the rooster and letting the donkey go into desuetude."

"Of course, everybody knows that the crowing rooster is the emblem of the Democratic party, or was before the Democratic party let Nast supplant the rooster with the donkey," he explained.

"The rooster has ten times more style and beauty and clariety than the donkey."

Absentee Voters May Decide Issue

Denver, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The race for the short term Senatorship from Colorado, upon which depends control of the Senate in the short session of Congress which opens in December, had narrowed today to a margin of 83 votes in favor of Karl C. Schuyler, Republican.

Complete unofficial reports from all 1549 precincts in the state gave Schuyler 206,655; Walter Walker, Democrat, Grand Junction newspaper publisher, 205,572.

Absentee ballots, of which party leaders estimated there are about 5,000, will be counted early next week, and upon these will depend the outcome.

WORLD PAUSES IN WORK TODAY HONORS DEAD

Several Legionnaires Refuse To Listen To Sec. Hurley

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The forgotten dead received their tribute of silence as the world paused in its work today, remembering the Armistice which ended the World War fourteen years ago.

In every nation sharing the victory men rose with bared heads and women's hands fell idle. Machines stopped at 11 A. M., and for two minutes there was silence.

In Washington America renewed its homage to the Unknown Soldier. In London the King laid a wreath at the monument to England's dead. In Paris, in far-off Australia, in Japan and China, in South America, in every country from which men went to fight with the Allies, there were brief and solemn ceremonies.

Here and there disturbances arose. In Scotland the unemployed created a disturbance and there was a similar incident at Vincennes.

EXERCISES AT TOMB

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Tribute to the Unknown Soldier echoed solemnly over the stillness of Arlington National Cemetery today, with the reading of a message from President Hoover which said: "The nation will linger today in its annual tribute of reverent memory of the glorious youth who gave their lives to defend our heritage of liberty and will pay especial homage in the dedication of the completed tomb of the Unknown Soldier."

"It is beauty is a symbol of our national pride in their heroism; our gratitude for their supreme devotion."

In a brief address, Secretary Hurley stood before the new tomb paying honor to the soldiers and sailors of the war. As he rose to speak, some seventy or eighty of the audience rose and left, in accordance with previously announced intentions as a protest against the evacuation of the German army from its squalid encampments here last summer.

No Disturbance

There was no disturbance, however. Half a dozen who described themselves as members of the bonus army, led by some of the blue uniformed members of the drum and bugle corps of the local Victory Post of the American Legion, placed wreaths on the graves of William J. Hushka and Eric Carlson, victims of the B. E. F. rioting, while Secretary Hurley was speaking. Members of the Victory post declined to enter the amphitheater to hear the Secretary of War's address and joined in the tributes to the dead B. E. F. men instead.

General Pershing, hero of many an Armistice Day celebration, was in Paris, 150 miles from the chateau that was his headquarters when he gave that 11 A. M. "ilities suspended" order that precipitated the pandemonium of the first Armistice Day.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war President whose Cathedral resting place is an annual observance center, was in Japan.

Eleventh Anniversary
President Hoover, not yet returned from California, had issued his Armistice Day message in advance, but sent Secretary Hurley to lay the annual wreath which has hitherto been placed upon the tomb by a President's own hand ever since the Unknown Soldier was buried there, eleven years ago today.

Forty-eight wreaths, from the American Legion posts of the forty-eight states, joined in the dedicatory exercises with that of the President.

No previous dedication of the tomb has ever been made, the understanding being that it would be delayed until it was sculpturally and scenically complete.

President-Elect Is Suffering With Cold

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt today was confined to his bed with a slight cold. He cancelled his weekend trip to Hyde Park to rest at the Executive Mansion. Mrs. Roosevelt, who arrived today from New York, advised him to rest in bed over the week-end.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that he had contracted a cold last Tuesday on his motor trip from Hyde Park to New York City but he added he believed he had tossed it off.

He rode in an open car that day and during most of the trip was bare-headed, while he waved his hat to the crowds in the villages along the way.

Mr. Roosevelt, who conducted a most arduous campaign, said the day after his election "I never felt better," but added he was tired and expected to "catch up" with his sleep during the following week.

Elgin Woman, Sick, Dies Under Train

Chicago, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Miss Nellie Fetter, 44, Elgin, Ill., was killed last night when she fell or leaped under the wheels of a passenger train at the Rock Island's Blue Island station.

Her brother, T. A. Fetter, said she had been in ill health for some time. She left her Elgin home yesterday, he said, to visit in Chicago. Notes found on the body indicated she was despondent and planned to end her life, the police said.

George W. Shaver Died Unexpectedly

Jimmy Walker Set
Sail For Europe

New York, Nov. 11—(AP)—James J. Walker, slipping away without fanfare, was Europe-bound today, and word came from sources close to him that he would dwell in Paris indefinitely.
As the liner Conte Grande sailed last night with the former mayor in seclusion in a strictly guarded stateroom, these sources said he would go first to India to be the guest of a maharajah whom he once entertained here. Then he was expected to take up residence in the French metropolis.

Also on the Conte Grande were Miss Betty Compton, star of several Broadway musical shows, and her mother, Mrs. Florence Compton. Miss Compton was the "unnamed person" of the Seabury investigation which resulted in Walker's sudden resignation.
A Walker check for $7500 to an unnamed woman figured in that investigation. Later Miss Compton vivacious dancer, said it was she who received the check and that she got it on a bet.

Writ Of Habeas
Corpus Is Issued

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—A writ of habeas corpus to be returned immediately was issued today by Chief Justice John Prydzinski of the Criminal Court to be served on Sheriff A. L. Marovitz of Kendall county, who is holding Gus Winkler, alleged bank robber in several instances, at Plano.

An attorney representing Winkler was deputized by the judge to serve the writ and bring Winkler back to Chicago for a hearing. The judge was informed that Winkler had been released on bond awaiting hearing in Kendall county on a charge of bank robbery, but that the Sheriff was holding him for Wisconsin authorities who also want him for alleged bank robbery.
The judge issued the writ by virtue of the fact that he can act in such a case where anyone is being held, supposedly illegally, anywhere in the state.

THOUSAND OR
CUBAN STORM

death list at 1,300. Mayor Humberto Rodriguez of Camaguey said he believed 1,500 had perished, and Manuel Dupuy Aguilera, a Santa Cruz survivor, thought 1,800 had drowned.

On the basis of available reports from other parts of this province, it appeared that the deaths outside Santa Cruz were far short of 100. In Camaguey 17 were known to be dead and 75 injured.

Struck Wednesday Morn
The hurricane, which had been lashing its way around the Caribbean for a week, struck Santa Cruz early Wednesday morning. It cut a diagonal path north eastward through Cuba, leaving from the neighborhood of Nuevitas on the northern coast. Today, slowed by its overland passage, the disturbance was going through the Bahamas.

So strong were the winds through central Cuba that communication lines were wrecked in every direction. Trains began running in Camaguey province today, and each incoming engineer brought stories of havoc in cities and through the countryside.

The Associated Press correspondent flew here from Havana today, observed banana plantations in Camaguey province leveled in geometric rows, palms stripped and torn, and nine out of every ten thatched farm huts damaged or destroyed.

Airplane pilots told the correspondent conditions were similar to the east as far as Manzanillo in Oriente province. Manzanillo was reported temporarily flooded by the storm.

Among the damaged towns where no deaths were reported were: Florida Cuba, Central, Estrella, Nuevitas, Redencion, Minas, Altigracia, Manzanillo.

Many Beggars Victim
Buildings were damaged in various parts of Camaguey. Most of the dead were taken from a structure on the outskirts housing beggars.

The Redencion sugar mill was destroyed. Some 300 of the citizens took refuge in the solid Commercial Department building of the mill properties, and were saved.

Florida Cuba reported 32 injured and Centrals asked for medical supplies. Two churches and 40 houses were destroyed at Minas near here, but none was injured. Altigracia reported several destroyed houses but no injuries.

Camaguey today was the scene of wholesale tragedy, with soldiers patrolling the streets under orders of the military supervisor to shoot anyone caught looting. Homes were turned over to the authorities as they became necessary to care for the arriving Santa Cruz injured.

Major Santiago Trujillo, acting for the Secretary of the Interior at Havana, was reported en route to make a survey of needs here. The order for immediate appraisal of conditions was issued by President Gerardo Machado. The Interior Secretary personally was expected to come later.

Every train from the south bore its quota of injured refugees from Santa Cruz. Del Sur today—tragic evidence of the fury of a tidal wave that almost swept the town off the map of Cuba.

Survivors Dazed, Mute
A few could tell their stories, others were dazed and mute, and some were unconscious, dying.

It was hard to determine just what happened from these pitiful groups as they lay in the various emergency hospitals in Camaguey.

Terms, or sea swallows, are said to have a greater developed "homing sense" than pigeons.

The storm first struck, they said, during Tuesday night, and some 500 residents began moving out of their homes to the surrounding countryside.

But the rest of the 4,000 residents remained with their belongings. They lived through a 100-mile-an-hour wind, but little did they dream that behind it was a 20 foot wall of water.

Suddenly, out of the blackness just before dawn the crash of fishing boats in the harbor—70 of them were destroyed—notified the town it was doomed.

There was time for little besides mad dashing for a safety that could not be found anywhere. Jose Diaz, the Santa Cruz station agent, said hundreds crowded about five empty boxcars on a railway siding. He couldn't say why, unless they thought the cars were too heavy for the tide to move.

The latest survivors arriving here said the authorities were on the point of ordering wholesale cremation because the able-bodied citizens could not bury the dead fast enough.

No Appointments
Considered Says
President-Elect

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11—(AP)—Preparing to lay aside his public duties for a few hours rest at home, Franklin D. Roosevelt had served notice today that he would not return to his duties as President-elect until at least two months.

In the meantime, he said, he will give his attention principally to the affairs of New York state.

His duties as Governor occupied Mr. Roosevelt yesterday and today. Sometime this afternoon he will put these aside and go to his country estate at Hyde Park for what he hopes will be his first week-end of relaxation in many weeks.

He will return to Albany Monday to continue whipping the state budget into shape and to prepare for his trip to Warm Springs, Ga., about the end of next week.

The Governor took time yesterday to explore with newspaper men into the speculative rumors which had arisen about his plans since the landslide Democratic vote which swept him to victory Tuesday.

He issued the statement about federal appointments to stifle speculation about his selections for Cabinet and other federal posts.

He waved aside a report that he might stop at Washington on the way to Warm Springs and call upon President Hoover. He listened to a report that he was planning to visit London before his inauguration next March, and commented, "who's looney now?"

CORD PLANS TO BATTLE WALL ST.
STOCK TRADINGMerger Of Two Large
Aviation Concerns
Meets Disapproval

Los Angeles, Nov. 11—(AP)—E. L. Cord, president of Cord Corporation, today described court action, involving Aviation Corporation and North American Aviation, Inc., as "the opening of my battle against Wall Street control of institutions financed by stockholders who have no voice in the management of their property."

On motion of Cord Corporation, a holding company, Aviation Corporation was restrained yesterday from exchanging 1,997,000 shares of its common stock for certain assets of North American Aviation.

"In spite of every reasonable discussion and plea," Cord asserted here, "directors of Aviation Corporation and North American Aviation were contemplating a deal through which assets and management of both companies were to be taken out of the hands of those who have a legal and moral right to them and tied up for years in a voting trust."

The Chicago automobile manufacturer claimed stockholders had had no opportunity to pass on the deal, which he said was secretly planned by a majority of directors controlling seven per cent of the stock. Cord said his action charged $200,000 was lost through stock speculation, improper investments, purchases, and "excessive salaries."

Cord denied he had attempted to force officials to buy aviation equipment manufactured by his companies or that a wage controversy was back of the court action.

Shawl Exhibit A Success; A Most Delightful Event

The Shawl Exhibit yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian church proved a most interesting and delightful event, and was attended by a large number of guests.

There were over one hundred shawls displayed on the church walls, the organ, chairs, etc. There were cashmere and Kashmir shawls, Paisley, India, Spanish, Chinese, Egyptian, Broche, and Mexican shawls. There were shawls of the true Scotch plaid shawls embroidered in gold and silver threads, in gay and somber colors; and shawls of the great-grandmothers, now worn by the younger generation; shawls which were worn by both men and women of the Civil War period, and a duplicate of the shawl worn by Abraham Lincoln of that period.

Miss Ruth Dysart opened the program with the singing of a group of lovely Spanish songs, accompanied at the piano by Miss Arminson.

Mrs. J. F. Young then introduced Miss Fannie Murphy who gave a most informative and delightful talk on "Shawls." Shawls have been symbolic of races and periods for ages, and have been more or less in favor in all time in our country, and in many others. There is romance and history connected with the shawl, and Miss Murphy dwelt on some of the more interesting incidents. The shawl in America was most popular in the '60s and '70s. At the conclusion of Miss Murphy's thoroughly enjoyable talk Miss Dysart again favored with several songs, one being an especial favorite of George Washington, "The Way Worn Traveler," which was often sung to her father by Nellie Custis as she played her own accompaniment on the melodeon.

This concluded the program and a pleasant social hour was spent, as the ladies chatted over the lovely shawls, and enjoyed the dainty refreshments with Mrs. W. A. Rhodes and Mrs. E. L. Staples presiding at the refreshment table. Decorations of chrysanthemums and foliage graced the rooms, which added to the color and beauty of the shawl exhibit. The candlelighters made a neat sum for the coffers of the society.

THE PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN.

And they did not confine their statement to a conversational tone. The people roared out an answer at the late and lamented election which was unmistakable.

The Telegraph has no apologies to make. We were sincere in our belief and we still think we were right and we were glad to find by the election returns in this county that the majority of voters stayed Republican.

But the majority of Americans thought otherwise and in this country the majority rules, which is as it should be.

We are glad that Mr. Roosevelt, the next president, will not be hampered by a hostile house and senate. He has a great opportunity for service to the nation and he has our best wishes for success in that service. We hope Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic party can do such a good job of governing the United States and can so quickly relieve the distress of the depression as to prove that our fears were groundless and that our apprehension was a mistake. The progress that President Hoover has made along those lines will certainly be a benefit and a help toward that end.

Our only concern is good government and prosperous times. If Democracy can bring that to us, more power to them.

President Hoover must feel that the nation had poor appreciation of his tremendous efforts to help it, but on the other hand, the lifting of the burden he has carried so heroically must be a vast relief to him. His admirers will be glad of that.

No doubt everyone is glad the election is over and the hostility and rancor that is engendered by it. There is no occasion for any bitterness or hostile feeling. Our ballot is a sacred privilege and everyone has a right to vote as he pleases. The great majority of the voters have registered their convictions and have placed the administration of state and nation in the hands of the Democrats. The incoming administration should be given whole-hearted cooperation by Republicans and should start out with the sincere best wishes of everyone. If they should fail in the fulfillment of their pledges or in their duty to the state and nation, then there will be ample time for criticism. Give them every chance to make good.

AN EXAMPLE FOR INDUSTRY.

A company which owns extensive iron ore properties in upper peninsula of Michigan announced not long ago that on Nov. 1 it would call 1200 miners back to work—not because there is any new demand for its ore, but simply because it recognizes a duty to its employees.

The name of this concern, you might be interested to know, is the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company. Its mines have been idle for a long time; it has at its properties, already mined, a stock of 3,250,000 tons of ore, and its shipments this year have only been 175,000 tons. The company could exist very nicely for some time to come without bringing another bucketful of ore out of the ground.

But the miners couldn't; and the company has accepted its responsibility in a very commendable fashion. Its action deserves high praise. Would that it might be copied by other companies all over the nation!

Two things that must be achieved in European diplomacy are the security of France and the equality of Germany. The only way to do that is through recognition by all states that war anywhere concerns everybody.—Lord Lytton, chairman, League of Nations Manchurian Commission.

To ease the economic strain, buying power must be increased. To increase the buying power, a company's pay roll should be spread over as wide an area as consistent with the efficient operation of the industry.—P. V. Litchfield, rubber executive.

I thought it only fair that I should not stick on, so that others might get a chance of promotion.—Sir Henry Fielding Dickens, 84, son of the British novelist, on his retirement.

I value far more highly the effects of a generally favorable economic situation due to peace throughout the world than I do any profit from possible scattered and intermittent orders for war materials.—Gustav Krupp von Bohlen, head of the famous Krupp works, Germany.

If the nations of the world at one time entertained doubts about their solidarity, today, facing the world, they must admit solidarity at least in misery.—Paul Reynaud, former minister of justice of France.

A good whipping post in City Hall courtyard with 10 days of 100 lashes each would soon rid the city of its criminals.—Judge Harry S. McDevitt, Philadelphia.

The days have long passed when the high spirit of adventure can properly be allowed to find its outlet on the public highways of the country.—P. J. Pybus, British minister of transport.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The tire that had split its sides from laughing had had lots of rides but now it wouldn't hold air that would keep it pumped up high.

Said Scouty, "Well, I did that trick and now I'll have to fix it quick. I think that I can patch the tire right up if I try."

"And I will help you," Windy cried. "Let's roll it over on its side and take the inner tube out. That will need some patches first."

"And then the outside we can fix. Run get some tire glue that sticks. I've seen a lot of blow-outs, but this really is the worst."

The farmer heard them talking and he said, "I'll gladly lend a hand. I have some patching stuff that's in the tool box of my car."

Kind Duncy ran to get it. He was just as quick as he could be. When he rushed back he held it up and shouted, "Here you are!"

It didn't take them long to fix the tire. Soon it was strong. The farmer thanked the lads and said,

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

Washington — Ever so often there may be seen around the war department or in the lobby of the Army and Navy club near by, a white-haired, white-mustached erect old soldier whom everybody refers to as the "grand old man" of the army.

He is General Hugh Lenox Scott, long since retired from active duty but still a familiar figure around the capital. He lives in New Jersey, but comes back to his old haunts frequently.

The general is one of the few survivors of the old army. Around him, too, is much of the glamour and romance of the old-time fighting men.

His fellow-officers talk about him almost reverently. They say that he is the ideal of what an American soldier should be—"brave to a fault, unflinching in the line of duty, loyal to superiors, but never bending the knee for favor, honest as the sun, and devoted to flag and country."

ONCE INDIAN FIGHTER—

General Scott is an old-time Indian fighter who came up thru the ranks to the position of chief of staff of the army during the administration of Woodrow Wilson and for a while was acting Secretary of War attending cabinet meetings at the request of the President.

Some 50 years of his life were spent soldiering on the plains. Several years ago when congress decided to make a permanent record of the Indian sign language, he was rated the only person familiar enough with the subject to tackle the job.

He was given $5,000 and sent out among his old friends, the Indians, to make talking pictures of their language. He learned it during his campaigns in the plains and is recognized as perhaps the world's greatest living authority on that subject.

VISITS RESERVATION—

His friendship for the Indians is his main hobby. He has made an intensive study of every phase of their life. Even now he manages to spend part of each year on a reservation.

The Indians in turn revere and trust him. Often he has interceded for them when they had substantial grievance. He is credited with averting many outbreaks and sometimes long Indian wars because of his knowledge of how the Indian might best be influenced.

Daily Health Talk

SLEEP-PRODUCING DRUGS

Shakespeare has called sleep the chief nourisher in life's feast, and well the physician knows that in many an ailment sleep is better medicine than food or drink.

At times, however, sleep is impossible when most urgently needed. Under such circumstances the resources of medicine must be brought into play.

Previous to 1869, when a doctor wanted to secure a night's rest for some poor sufferer, he could have recourse to only one of two drugs, alcohol or opium. Many a person, because of this, became unwittingly the slave of one or the other.

In 1869 Oscar Liebreich found that a drug known as chloral hydrate could induce sleep, and that patients treated with this drug were less liable to addiction.

Experiments on animals, however, showed that chloral hydrate is Economists and statesmen who have pronounced upon economic subjects can only receive in silence the allegation that as a whole they have preached differing and confusing doctrines. To educated people who combine with an ability to understand the openness of mind by which understanding is possible, a general trend of truth has nevertheless been discernible and fairly easy to pick out from the superabundance of information and advice.

With all knowledge of the limitations of economists and the undoubted fact that their prognostications have been and are still being proved wrong, the principal obstacle in the path of world economic reform is not the failure of information on the subject of either cause or effect, but rather unreadiness of an unprepared and insufficiently instructed public, in all countries, to believe what is the nearest approach to the whole truth attainable.

The broad truth, without going into financial, technical and administrative detail, as to the world's economic ills, is told with regularity but, to a great extent, it is a matter of bringing the righteous to repentance. The sinners keep outside the audiences of the better economists and, what is worse, not only do they fail to take note of the real facts, but, by their preconceived notions, often held with much heat and passion, they bully their own public men into remaining silent on points which should be made, and acquiescent in matters they know to be wrong.

THE WAR ENDS
On Nov. 11, 1918, fighting on the western front ceased at 11 A. M., after the German envoys had signed the armistice terms. Before the fighting was stopped, however, the British captured Mons.
In Germany, Field Marshal von Hindenburg placed himself and the army under command of the new People's Government.

Boy, Kidnaped By Hoodlums, Is Free

Chicago, Nov. 10—(AP)—The kidnaping of a Democratic leader's son last night was attributed variously today to robbery motives and to an effort of hoodlums to intimidate public officers.

Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker, inclined to the latter motive, ordered a cleanup of the west side and took into custody first of all "Dago Lawrence" Manzano, notorious gambler, a west side gang leader.

Thirteen-year-old John J. Touhy, whose father was re-elected trustee of the Sanitary District Tuesday, was kidnaped with the family chauffeur in front of their Washington Boulevard home last night. Several miles away, at a northwest side highway intersection, they were released, robbed of $10.

Police at first expressed the opinion robbery was the motive. Later the Chief of Detectives said:

intimidation might have been the purpose.

"This is the end of the west side hoodlums," Schoemaker proclaimed. "We're going to get rid of all the gangsters and hoodlums. With the elections, they see the handwriting on the wall and are desperate."

BUSH TO HEAD REDS

Minneapolis, Nov. 10—(AP)—Donie Bush has signed a one year contract to manage the Cincinnati club of the National League in 1933. Mike Kelley, president of the Minneapolis baseball club which Bush managed this year, said today after a telephone conversation with Bush and Sidney Weil, Cincinnati, president.

COAL PRODUCTION UP

New York, Nov. 10—(AP)—The National Coal Association estimates bituminous production for the week ended Nov. 5 at 7,200,000 tons. This compares with 5,690,000 tons for the corresponding 1931 week.

Congressmen And Senator At Rites

AVOID THE DANGER OF CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Overcomes This Condition Safely and Pleasantly

The first signs of constipation may be headaches, tired feelings, sallow complexions, sleeplessness, loss of appetite. If neglected, constipation may seriously impair health.

Today, you can banish constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action similar to leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, and gently clears out the intestinal wastes.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of common constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FINAL FLURRIES OF INSULL UNIT WILD FINANCING

Corporation Securities
Had Stock Syndicate
Millions Involved

By ROYAL F. MUNGER
Although the balance sheet of Corporation Securities Dec. 31, 1931 showed total assets and liabilities of $153,000,000, and the company is now in bankruptcy, there is still a good deal of mystery connected with its collapse. This concern, the last and wildest of the investment trust financings sponsored by Samuel Insull in the wild bull market of 1929, absorbed more than $52,000,000 in its original offering of allotment certificates. Practically all of this sum came from the pockets of investors in Chicago and the middle west. Besides this and other small items there was $30,000,000 of 5 per cent gold notes. These were also sold, in the main, to Chicago investors.

In other words, here is $82,000,000, a sum equal to about $100 a family for the entire population of Chicago, that has vanished in the market crash of the last few years. The money has done more than vanish; it has vanished so completely that there are practically no funds on hand with which to hire auditors to find out where the assets went. The concern has been in receivership since last spring and is now in bankruptcy. It seems reasonable to assume that in such a large project, there may be assets, recoverable assets, that have not yet appeared.

In considering the situation of Corporation Securities, the first point is that the receiver, so far has obtained no information concerning the "syndicate list" in connection with the original underwriting. It is stated, in responsible quarters, and with evident sincerity, that no such list exists.

The facts are that the Corporation Securities syndicate was the most wildly speculative of that in any Insull issue, that the participants did not at first put up any money at all, not a cent, and that the profits on paper, at the peak prices reached by the allotment certificates before their value began to break, were more than 53 per cent on the entire underwriting. If the syndicate members had put up 5 per cent of the price, as they did in another Insull their potential profits would have been 1,000 per cent on the cash invested.

Allotment certificates of Corporation Securities were oversubscribed at $75 a unit, made up of one share of preferred and one share of common before the issue was ever listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange. Because of this oversubscription, the units sold as high as $115 in the over-the-counter market of LaSalle street

THREE GUESSES

(Answer on Page 9)

But trouble was coming.

The corporation was formed effective October 15, 1929, and the formal application for listing was made October 16. The "street" was wild for the stock. On October 17 the governors of the stock exchange approved the issue and on October 19 actual trading was begun. The speculative markets of the world were jumpy and nervous and events were leading up to the world-wide crash of October 29, 1929.

The managers of the syndicate soon became aware that the public was not going to be able to absorb the huge offering. On October 19, while the price was maintained on the exchange, within a range of 100 to 99, closing at 100, there were only 1,000 units sold, a small turnover for an issue that had been reputed so popular. The offering was a failure.

Eventually, the syndicate managers decided that it would be necessary to call upon all the syndicate subscribers to take up their subscriptions in full, as bona fide purchasers. Zounds, what a sensation there was! Politicians, speculators, "friends" of Insull, who had fairly forced their way into the picture a few days before, saw ruin staring them in the face.

Those who could do so took up their stock at the syndicate price of $75 a share. Some held on and are still holding on, with the company gone down for the third time. Some took their stock and dumped it into the market for what it would bring. A number of individuals were so obviously unable to take up the huge sums they had subscribed in the hope of quick profits that no attempt was made to collect. The date of payment was set for Nov. 1, 1929, and those who were financially responsible, in the main, paid up on that date. Later in the month of November much of the stock was transferred to individual names. It had originally been carried, in part, in "street" names and addresses.

Naturally, the price on the Chicago Stock Exchange slipped rapidly. The stock closed at 96, at 88 at 84 at 79 at 72 at 65 and so on.

On the closing days of October, there were 58,150 shares traded, or dumped, whichever phrase one prefers. A fair portion of this must have been liquidation.

It is an unfortunate bit of financial history, but one which seems essential to a consideration of the present position of the company. The theory that there was no syndicate list will hardly hold water. Later it may be possible to tell something of the other conditions which surrounded this underwriting.

To reassure those whose fortunes are involved in the corporation, it may be said that the investigation is today in the hands of men who have the ability to drive it forward to a successful conclusion.

Newspaper Editors To Rest Tired Eyes

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 10—(AP)—Tired newspaper editors turned to University of Illinois campus today to get their minds of election tabes.

REBORN HERE TODAY

The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a homicidal maniac. Later he boards a train for Long Island, thinking of the pleasant week-end he is to have there. The name of the murderer is not disclosed.

The scene shifts to the Long Island home of LINDA and TOM AVERILL, married three years and much in love. Linda announces that instead of three guests over the week-end they are to have five. The guests will be her cousin AMOS PEABODY, elderly, distant relative of Linda's who was in New York on business and invited himself to visit the Averills; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer with whom Averill hopes to do business; MR. S. T. A. N. D. E. R., middle-aged manager of the firm Averill works for; MARVIN PRATT, former suitor of Linda's whom she has not seen for several years, and LIAN SHAUGHNESSY, Irish writer on a lecture tour.

Cousin Amos arrives first. Linda shows him to his room and then goes to meet the other guests.

CHAPTER III
"But I don't know," Linda confided later, in the brief interlude between a somewhat stiff and formal tea and a dinner of fairly large proportions. "I certainly don't know why, but I feel very qualmish about this week-end!"

"Why? Everything seems going fine!" Engaged in some baffling quest which involved much rooting in neat wardrobe drawers, Averill dismissed her perplexity with easy-going masculine abstraction. "You can't expect all these strange johnnies to loosen up and be blood brothers at first meeting. Give 'em time!"

"It isn't exactly that," Clad in the minimum of chiffon and lace beneath a negligee that was itself a mere breath of turquoise air, Linda pitted from the window seat her husband's heated efforts to collect his evening regalia. "There's a—a sort of thunder-stormy feeling in the air."

"This heat has got you," pronounced Thomas, straightening to look at her with proprietary anxiety. "Anything go wrong today? Rosie or Annie acting up?"

"I'm ready, angel, and I'm starting," she said. "I want to slip down the back stairs into the kitchen a moment."

Going down the front stairs only a moment later, Tom was first to meet the long-unseen former suitor, bending attentively over the lower shelf of a bookcase in the big central room.

"You must be Mr. Pratt!" A startled face, with pronouncedly undershot jaw below an iron-gray pompadour, turned quickly at the words and the man seemed for a second to recoil against the shelves of books, one hand behind him. Inwardly Tom was thinking, "And you must be a darned quick mover—last to come and first down stairs!"

Recovering from his momentary surprise, the other gripped his hand so firmly that for all his own muscle Averill almost showed his discomfort.

The greeting over, the two men stood a moment awkwardly, then each broke the short silence with hasty speech.

"Your wife's all right?" "Linda's coming right down."

They laughed with a little constraint and this time Averill took the lead more naturally.

"Sit down, won't you, and have a cigar?"

The other walked over to the long windows.

"Thanks—I don't smoke anything but a pipe—and that outdoors. But, I say, there's a fat white dog out here," he gestured toward the screened casement. "Seems to want to add to the heat and suddenly Linda was not only hot but horribly distressed; so heavily con-

ROOSEVELT HAS WIDE OPEN DOOR OF OPPORTUNITY

Future Depends On His Ability To Measure Up To Promises

(By The Associated Press.)
Borne into office by a plurality that spelled a mighty congressional majority and 38 state administrative offices, the new President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has opened a wide door of opportunity for the nation's new Democratic leaders. For Franklin D. Roosevelt, this meant at least two months directing the affairs of New York state from the Governor's chair. For Speaker John N. Garner, it was the always difficult task of marshalling legislation during the crowded three months of a "lame-duck" congress. But sandwiched in will be conferences with Democratic leaders, doubtless including plans for both the short session and new Congress. Smoothing the path of President-elect Roosevelt toward his White House duties was the prospect of Democratic majorities of record strength. In the house his party had won over 300 seats, and in the Senate 59. The opposition dwindled accordingly. The present Republican House membership was slashed to just over 100. Republican Senators were cut a full dozen to leave only 36. The ruthless Democratic sweep which brought Roosevelt 472 electoral votes to 59 for Hoover, engulfed also governorships in 29 states for a Democratic total of 38 to nine for the Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite.

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—The more the election returns are studied, the more apparent it becomes that few Presidents in the whole history of the country have entered the White House through so wide a door of opportunity as that which awaits Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Not only the task ahead, but the instruments at hand are impressive.

The millions of his supporters represent every section and every political party. Serving with him will be a Congress highly sympathetic with his political purposes. And he has come through the campaign pledged only to broad principles, and fettered by a minimum of promises as to specific enactments.

Will He Measure Up?
It is the unanimous judgment of those on both sides of the political fence that much of future history depends on the degree to which the President measures up to this challenge to bold, independent leadership.

The election figures demonstrate that the country is in a state of peaceful insurrection against the present order in Washington. Even the Democratic campaign managers give credit to the advantage they derived from resentment against the Hoover administration. In an extraordinary degree the country will look hopefully on as the Roosevelt administration shapes its policies and the vast majority who voted it into power will be eager to applaud whenever opportunity offers.

The situation in Congress after March 4 will be the most advantageous any President has found in recent years. Not even the Wilson landslide of 1912, though it split the Republicans, left that party at so low a point as it will reach in March. The House will be three to one Democratic. In the Senate, scarcely twenty out of the ninety-six will remain who can be counted on to go down the line for the Republican organization.

Have Big Leverage
At one particular point, the Democratic strength in Congress will offer a tremendous leverage to the Democratic administration. With so many members elected on a pledge to reduce government spending, the new Chief Executive will be in a position to slash very drastically at the federal budget with every expectation of both congressional and popular support.

In several of his campaign speeches, Roosevelt voiced an aspiration for closer cooperation between the White House and the Governors of states, and declared the President should take national leadership for reduction of state and local taxes. For such an endeavor, conditions scarcely could be more propitious. Of the forty-eight Governors, thirty-eight will be Democrats, who supported him for the Presidency. Special political debts, incurred in the election, have been the greatest handicap to many Presidents; but Roosevelt's support was so widespread as to make his obligations national in their scope.

Owes Debts Everywhere
It has been said before, but it is a point of special moment; neither the south, nor the agricultural states, nor the industrial centers of the east, nor any individual among his supporters, nor the organization of any local political leader can claim to have supplied the margin of victory. He could have done without any one of these single factors and, on the basis of the figures, won the election.

A serious economic situation undoubtedly will face the new administration, but even that is not without its favorable side. Whatever may have been said in the heat of the campaign, those who believe things will grow much worse are far in the minority. The generally accepted belief is that President Roosevelt will catch the economic cycle on the upgrade, and will profit politically by whatever improvement follows. To enumerate these factors in the situation is by no means to predict whether Mr. Roosevelt will take full advantage of his freedom for independent leadership. Time alone can tell that, but the circumstances themselves are so striking as to challenge the imagination.

The election is over now, and the country has signified its desire for a change. And whatever your personal reaction to the verdict returned at the polls may be, there are a few things that it is very important for all of us to keep in mind.

First of all, the country is not going straight to the dogs just because the Democrats won a presidential election. Grass is not going to grow in our streets, the nation is not going to collapse, the American system is not going to vanish from the earth.

Those campaign bogey-men have no substance, and the sooner we forget all about them the better off we shall be.

On the other hand, the victory of Roosevelt is not going to restore prosperity overnight. There are just as many men out of work today as there were before the election; there are just as many idle factories; just as many mortgaged farms; just as many hungry families wondering where the next meal is coming from.

No miracle has happened. To expect that good things, whose voters expressed themselves against Federal constitutional prohibition, voted to repeal state constitutional nor statutory dry laws.

Views Differ
On the basis of pre-election classifications by wet organizations, over 300 newly elected Representatives and 27 of the Senators favor repeal or submission of constitutional prohibition. Counting hold-over Senators, this made 51 of the next Congress in the repeal or submission category.

In formal statements, F. Scott McBride, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and Matthew Woll, chairman of Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead act, took opposite sides of the prohibition outlook. "If the party (Democratic) mis-

Borah said that in a quarter of a century's experience, he has found no controversial question can be disposed of in a short session. Dry leaders felt this particularly true of a Congress that is certain to become involved in the difficult task of slashing Federal expenditures.

On the other side, Senator Byrnes (D. S. C.) expressed the opinion that "the question of modification of the Volstead act will be out of the way by Christmas," while Representative O'Connor (D. N. Y.) solicited the views of all his colleagues on the form modification legislation should take. Meanwhile, additional election returns increased the margins by which 11 states approved anti-prohibition measures. They were New Jersey, Louisiana, Michigan, California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona, North Dakota, Connecticut, and Wyoming. All but Connecticut and Wyotimes are going to come back automatically just because the electorate rose in its wrath and demanded a change is as foolish as to believe all of those last-minute prophecies of doom and destruction.

What it all comes down to is simply this: the great problems that got talked about so much during the campaign are still with us, and they demand the most intelligent and energetic attention America can give them. They won't be solved unless all of us can bury the antagonism of the campaign and work shoulder to shoulder to effect the needed reforms.

The election may have made the job easier. The great national hunger has a change—for a "new deal," if you like—has been appeased. The deep resentment of worker and farmer has found relief. People are more ready to be hopeful now than they were a short time ago.

But the big task is still ahead of us. Our chief danger is that we may make the mistake of thinking that the election settled everything. It didn't. It is what happens in the months following the election that is important.

Adding doubtful qualities to the congressional prospect will be more than 100 "lame duck" members. These are Senators and Representatives who will not be members of the Seventy-third Congress because of Tuesday's Democratic landslide which on latest returns showed:

A House composed of 313 Democrats, 111 Republicans and four Farmer-Laborites (seven seats remained in doubt).

A Senate made up of 59 Democrats, 36 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor member.

But since the House is Democratic, it is virtually certain to lay groundwork for the program to be shoved through with full strength under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Ready at hand for the preliminary committee work will be reports of special investigators.

Committee Gets Data
A taxation committee headed by Representative Vinson of Kentucky, for instance, has found that if the short session of Congress modifies the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines, the war time taxes automatically become effective in the event new rates are not imposed. Roosevelt has declared for Federally taxed legalized beer.

This tax on beer is $6 a barrel of 31 gallons. The lowest levy on wine not exceeding 14 per cent alcohol is 16 cents a gallon.

L. H. Parker, chief of the staff of the Joint Internal Revenue Taxation Committee, estimated for the Vinson committee that Federal revenue would be increased by $300,000,000 annually on beer and wine alone at the existing rate.

A BOOK A DAY

LAST CHANCE TO BEAT REDS -AND THEY MUFFED IT

The Bolsheviks held Moscow very loosely. Disorganized and inefficient, their pickets and their storm battalions could be dislodged quickly by any unified and ably-directed attack. Their leadership had not solidified.

But when the White officers tried to put over such an attack they found it utterly impossible. Their spirit had gone from them. Their appeals fell on deaf ears. The last great chance to prevent Communism from seizing Russia passed untried and it passed chiefly because Russia itself, unconsciously had decided for a change and was ready to let its new masters do what they liked.

You get a picture of this last crisis in "Lances Down," in which Richard Boleslavski, in collaboration with Helen Woodward, tells how he crept into Moscow after the Polish lancers went to pieces and relates what happened in that city in 1917 and 1918.

His book makes a remarkable study of the revolution. Over and over again it emphasizes the fact that the old regime simply fell apart. It shows you the "intellectuals," indignant and confused running around in circles as society came crashing down. There was no hope in them, no leadership.

The book lacks the blood and thunder drama of its predecessor, "Way of a Lancer." That story was like the last thin bugle call of a romantically doomed squadron on its last charge. But "Lances Down" is a better book; more thoughtful, better balanced, more revealing and, I think, more sincere.
